I doubt that there's any I could say about this game that it doesn't say about itself. Definitely worth grabbing while it's on sale.. Beep Beep and i got some cards XD XD. I recently bought this game to keep my steam market alive and have come to the realisation that it is not halfway bad! When you start the game you get a neat introduction and you start right off by choosing the levels. I discovered that each level carries their own little challenges and there are usually more than one way of solving them. The physics aspect of the game is nice. Simply a game to cool down after a stressful day or game. Overall the game is highly playable, for the low price of 0.99 (0.49 sale in my case) you get to play a neat little game which, in it's own right, gives you a lot of playtime and enriches your steam library with yet another game. I haven't encountered a glitch or bug yet. And if I do, I don't mind. The pricetag is hilariously low for anyone to about it. Cheers to the devs, keep on going, games are not easy to make.. I really liked this game. It may be a bit short, but the puzzles are challenging and the graphics are cute and delightful. That being said, I did get this game when I saw it on sale, but it seems to go on sale all the time, so consider keeping an eye on it.. Fun little game.. Charming side scrolling game. I love the artwork and the sound track. I would recommend buying this game.. BEEP is always on a high level like each triple-A title. It has a awesome main menu which feels like kerbal space program just in 2D, like minecraft and terraria. The game itself is feels like a Super Mario game just with guns, big guns and explosions and a lot of action. The story isn't so good as i thought, but it's definitely on the same level of quality as the assassins creed series or even the battlefield series.. Awesome game, is a cool and nice game, I love it.. Simple and nice concept game
7/10
